ALL EVIDENCE IS BEING COLLECTED
EVERY CLUE IN CRONIN MYSTERY BEING INVESTIGATED.
THOROUGH SEARCH IS MADE

Authorities Reluctant Relative to the Work Being Done to Solve Death of Aged Citizen.
"Everything possible to solve the murder of Michael Cronin is being done and you can state that the authorities are putting forth their best efforts to bring the murderer of the aged man to justice," said District Attorney John L. Fisher this morning.
"There are many phases of the matter which are being investigated but just what they are I do not care to say. The best men available are working night and day on the case and we hope that we will be able to lay our hands upon the assassin."
"The case has many complications which must be cleared away, but when they are the work will be greatly facilitated. The police department is utilizing its efforts and while handicapped by lack of any direct evidence, has some valuable information to use when the proper time comes."
The discovery that Michael Cronin had over three thousand dollars in gold in his home did not surprise persons who had known the old man during his life. Men who have known Mr. Cronin for years are certain that there is still a much larger sum concealed about the house or yard.
One man whose business relations with the deceased extended over many years states that Mr. Cronin had two hundred dollars when the end of the war came and that it was in gold. Gold was at a premium at that time and he told Cronin he could make a neat fortune by trading his gold for paper currency. Mr. Cronin's mis-trust in anything but gold coins, however, prevented his doing so.
The place of concealment of the three came disclosed yesterday was such that a most careful search of the house, without tearing it down altogether, could not have revealed its whereabouts to the uninformed. It appears Mrs. Cronin was told of her husband's hiding place during an illness of her husband two years ago and before that had remained in the house, that so much money was in the house.
This recalls the old report that Cronin buried his money himself after his wife had gone to bed for the night. It is also said by men who knew him that he used oyster cans for this purpose as they were the size of bricks, but the three cans found yesterday did not belong to this class.
Reverting to the theory that it was a local character or at least a man who learned the particulars from some local man the following theory has been fitted together by some who have followed the case closely. The idea is based on the murderer belonging to the village of the city and its people.
The fact that the night of the murder had been the night of the murder and had done so for several nights before, gives rise to the thought that some stranger had been watching the Cronin house for several nights before to get the lay of the land before making his attempt to put the old man out of the way, and then Mrs. Cronin, and have free access to the hidden wealth.
Had this been the case it would have been easy for him to have crept up to the house, even peeked through the window and found the habit of the Cronin family. As told by Mrs. Cronin, this was to have an early supper, for her husband to read for a short time, take off his shoes, draw the covers from the fire and then after she had gone to bed to retire himself.
Then, discovering that the Cronin family retired early, the murderer would have laid his plans to make his visit shortly after six and upon some flimsy excuse get the old man to come out with him so he could accomplish his foul deed. He would have to be about six or a few minutes later Mr. Cronin would have had his shoes off and could not be induced to come out.
He timed his appearance during the thick of the fog, which would aid him materially. That there is a possibility of Cronin's having recognized him and thus been more willing to go out with him to show him the location of the James residence. Once outside, a few yards from the house, the work was easy.
With a savage blow the old man was struck down. From the location of the wound the theory the man was left-handed may be a valuable clue. Also the instrument used is still in dispute. It may have been an axe, a hatchet or even a long-handled blunt hammer. Cronin came out of the house the next step was to secure Mrs. Cronin's absence or compel her to aid in searching for the money.
Back to the house the man crept, quietly and stealthily. People were nearby, the vicinity coming from work, however, he was secure in one respect; no one ever came up the street the Cronin lived on. This he knew by his observation of previous nights.
The rap came at the door. He intended perhaps to have Mrs. Cronin open it and then at the point of a revolver force her into silence. Absolute quiet was necessary. He did not dare push the door open for fear of an outcry, so tried to draw her to the door.
In this he failed. She became wary and suspicious and ordered him away, threatening to kill him. The game was up and he slunk away. He may have staid in the vicinity; he may have been far away by the time the police arrived.
Then came the discovery of the body and the call of the police. The neighbors hastened to the scene. Their rush to aid Mrs. Cronin to hear the story of the foul crime all helped the murderer by obliterating any footprints he may have left or other traces which would furnish a clue that might have led to his arrest.
The first report that Mr. Cronin had been struck by a train—the tracks were none were not disrupted by the excited neighbors and it was not until hours later that search for the murderer began. While this is not perhaps essential, still it makes it harder for the police to solve the problem that confronts them.
It is a difficult case to solve. Conditions on the night of the murder, the absence of any definite clues, the

The Play "Texas" Was Presented by an Able Company to a Small But Appreciative Audience.
With the life of the broad, free spaces, and pulsing with the sun-kissed strength of a bonanza Southwest, a play called "Texas" and written by J. Maudlin Felt was unfolded last evening in the Myers Theatre to a very small but very appreciative audience. This capital attraction should have drawn a eagerly housed; instead, it played to what scarcely constituted a quorum.
The cast was well-balanced, and though it contained no notable names, its values were honest. Miss Shelby was "Texas West," the Mrs. Conway, who impersonated the "Freshwater Jack," was impressively capable. Both of these characterizations created and revealed the atmosphere of that land of rude chivalry and daring deeds.
The time of the play is the present, and the four acts are laid in Val Verde county. There, as the character "Tank" remarked, it is "an hot as a hen settin' in a pock of wool." The scene investiture was pictorial of the majesty and solemnity of the land of the "land of little rain," and a sense also of the sun-baked temperature came over the footlights—across the warm, naked mountains in the background; from the adobe dwelling of the Peon servant on "Buckley Ranch;" and, in the third act, from the homely sitting-room of "Col. Buck West," who has constructed therein a fire-place in forgetfulness that the climate was not that of his native Missouri.
The plot concerns the shooting of "Freshwater Jack" by "Pasquale," a treacherous cattle-rustler in whose Mexican veins flows a vaunted drop of Castilian blood. Proud and vengeful, "Pasquale" furnishes virtually all of the melodramatic slouch of the piece. Jack's official duties as a ranger had brought him into conflict with this sort and condition of man, and, sitting wounded in the ranch house in the third act, this character figures cleverly in a climax wherein he sees in the mirror on the wall that the dustily grizzled, not content with a previous assault, even then snatching up behind him, this time with an ugly knife.

LIBRARY BOARD HAS PLANNED INNOVATION

Decided at Recent Meeting to Keep Reading Room Open on Sunday Afternoons.
At a recent meeting of the library board it was decided to keep the reading room of the library open on Sunday afternoons. This innovation was decided upon to meet the demand for some place on Sunday afternoon where persons might go to spend an hour or two reading the periodicals or papers. It was also decided that one member of the board would be present each Sunday in charge. No books will be loaned and the children's room not opened. In fact, children are not desired. This will be pleasing news to many who desire the privileges of the library and have but Sunday or evenings to avail themselves of them. The regular Saturday morning story hour will be continued, having proved most successful.

If names are sent in time to either of the undersigned, arrangements will be made to have dinner together.
J. W. LAUGHLIN, Chairman.
W. P. CHRISTY, Secretary.
Bishop FalloWS is a graduate and former rector of the University of Wisconsin. He was ordained in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1855; served in the Civil War, becoming colonel and brevet brigadier general; was subsequently a Methodist pastor in Milwaukee and in Wisconsin from 1871 to 1874. In 1875 he left the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church to enter that of the Reformed Episcopal church as rector of St. Paul's church, Chicago, in which position he has ever since continued, and he has also, since 1876, been one of the bishops of that denomination and was seven times elected presiding bishop. He is one of the foremost public orators of the country and has also taken an enviable place in literature, not only as a writer on religious and biblical subjects, but also as an encyclopedist of marked ability and a writer on philosophical and sociological themes.

DOING MUCH WORK AT BELLEFOURCHE DAM

Hayes Brothers & Company Preparing for Resumption of Work on Big Dam in March.
"We are doing some work at the Bellefourche dam project even during the winter," said Mr. Michael Hayes this morning. "Under the direction of Harry Jackson and my two sons, Michael and Joseph Hayes, the necessary work that can be done despite cold weather is being accomplished."
"The Bellefourche dam project is one of the largest the government now has and Mr. Hayes expressed his belief that it will be accomplished within the specified time. He expects that the real work will open about the middle of the month of March, although if conditions are good it may begin by the first."
"We are hauling some gravel, building a bridge and laying tracks for our work next summer," said Mr. Hayes. "While there is not much that can be done, still it is of considerable importance as a preliminary for the coming summer's work. We will use four hundred workmen when the time comes and it is work that a man can labor at all summer and never get his feet wet."
"The climate is fine, three thousand feet above the sea level; the workingmen's shacks and bunk-house are good, and we furnish stoves to the workers. The pay is about 17 1/2 cents an hour—$1.75 for a day's work of ten hours."
"Already applications come in for labor and we will have but little difficulty in securing all the competent help we require. In fact, this morning an Australian boss was here with fifty men he wanted me to hire."
"We do not pay the transportation of the men out there; they do this themselves. If we gave them railway tickets they might go on some other job when they reached the west. Sometimes, however, we take their baggage as security and do advance tickets, but not often."
Mr. Hayes was in Chicago yesterday and contracted for a quantity of steel rails for the proposed road; they will use and it will be shipped direct to Bellefourche. Mr. Jackson and the

GILLETT SAYS STOP

Urges Caution in Regard to Anti-Japanese Bills.

THINKS THEY ARE NOT WISE

President Again Telegraphs and Writes the California Governor—Two Chief Measures Will Be Acted Upon by the Lower House.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 27.—Further telegraphic and written advice from President Roosevelt and a message from Gov. Gillett to the legislature yesterday brought the anti-Japanese legislation question to a focus.

The president informed the governor that it would be extremely dangerous for the legislature to enact any laws that might be construed by Japan as discriminatory. He wired Gov. Gillett yesterday that another letter to him was on the way. This is expected to throw more light upon the situation as regards Japan and America.

Two Bills Up Today.

Grove L. Johnson, author of the bill segregating Japanese in residential districts at the option of municipalities, moved when the measure came up for third reading that it be made a special order for today. Thus two of the anti-Japanese measures will then be before the lower house and the whole issue will likely be decided.

The bill by A. N. Drew, denying aliens the right to hold land, was not for consideration today at the request of the author after the governor had indicated that he desired such legislation held up.

Speaker Stanton and the assembly organization are against all of the bills objected to by the administration. The fight for them will come from Grove L. Johnson, the San Francisco delegate, and the assemblymen who have great number of union labor constituents.

Message of the Governor.

The governor's message in part was as follows:

"There is certain legislation now pending before you which I believe to be of grave concern, not only to our state, but to the nation as well, and which should be most thoughtfully considered before it is acted upon."

"Certain bills have been introduced, some of which have been favorably reported by your committee, indirectly intended to affect the Japanese people—at least such is the impression abroad. These bills have attracted the notice of the whole nation and have caused Japan to call the attention of our government to them. They have produced an agitation not only in our own country, but throughout Japan and the Japanese minister of foreign affairs has stated to the authorities at Washington that if the bills should be passed, the government of Japan would consider it very embarrassing."

Immigration Is Decreasing.

The governor then reviews what has been done by the governments of the United States and Japan, resulting in a compact for the restriction of immigration, the provisions of which, he says, Japan is now carrying out. Figures are here given showing a decrease in the immigration of Japanese and the governor says he knows of nothing to sustain the assertion that the Japanese population of California is increasing. The message continues:

"Today the relations between the United States and Japan are very friendly. Both are great powers among the nations of the world. Both stand in a position, geographically, to dominate and control the commerce of the Pacific. Acting together they can dictate the policies which other nations must pursue in the far east and can preserve the trade there. As friendly allies, many benefits will inure to both nations and a great commerce can be carried on between them to the advantage of our people; but as enemies, the commerce of both can be driven from the ocean. Every reason, therefore, exists why there should continue between Japan and our government the most friendly relations, and it is the expressed wish of each nation that this shall be so."

For the Government to Settle.

"If the agreement already made does not go far enough, that is, if classes other than those enumerated herein should have been included, then our government should make that fact known to Japan and ask to have them included and present its reasons therefor. If such reasons are good and sufficient then, in all fairness and with a desire to do what is right, Japan will, no doubt, consent to the request made."

The governor says that the question of immigration is one for the federal government alone to settle.

Edward to Visit Alfonso.

Madrid, Jan. 27.—It is announced that King Edward and Queen Alexandra will visit Villagarcia on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert on February 16. King Alfonso and Queen Victoria will receive the royal visitors. There will be a royal banquet and excursions to the surrounding country and to Cordoba.

Iowa Bank Cashier a Suicide.

Portsmouth, Ia., Jan. 27.—C. R. Scroggins, for 18 years cashier of the State bank of Portsmouth, Ia., committed suicide yesterday by shooting. A state bank examiner was at work examining the books of the bank, but no unfavorable showing had been found.

Slaughter of the Birds.

It is said that the annual bird slaughter for plumes and other decorations is 300,000,000.

HOW THEY VOTED FOR THE SENATOR

voted for Stephenson, he did not want to.

Fisher and Whitte, the other Rock county members did not hesitate. Their vote was finally given for Stephenson. In fact it was the standard element of the lower house that saved the day. Here Senator Stephenson received sixty votes, a majority and at the joint election to follow it was the deciding question in the whole affair. The vote on this question of Senator by the members was as follows:

Stephenson, Rep. .... 60
Brown, Dem. .... 16
Rammel, Soc. Dem. .... 3
Cook, Rep. .... 2

But to return to the Senate and Senator Blaine's charges. It will be interesting reading to many to know just what the ultra was driving at. The charges made by Senator Blaine were an interesting bit of work. Filled with statements from hearsay evidence, no real facts are given that are substantiated. It is merely a flimsy pretext on the part of the ultra to show their hand and plan for two years from now. No one who really reads the charges over will think for a minute that such things are true when an investigation really comes hence they are interesting as the flimsy pretext for a fight. The charges in full are as follows:

The Blaine Charges.

To the Honorable Senate and Assembly of the State of Wisconsin:

1. John L. Blaine, an elector of the state of Wisconsin and member of the state senate, upon information and belief, do hereby specifically charge and allege:

1. That Isaac Stephenson of Marquette, Wis., now United States senator and a candidate for re-election did, as such candidate for such re-election, give to one E. A. Edmunds of the city of Appleton, Wis., then an elector of the state of Wisconsin and said city of Appleton, a valuable thing, to-wit: A sum of money in excess of $100,000, and approximately the sum of $250,000, as a consideration for some act to be done by said E. A. Edmunds in relation to the primary election held on the first day of September, 1908, which consideration was paid prior to said primary election, and that said Isaac Stephenson was at the time of such payment a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator at such primary, and did by such acts as above set forth, violate Section 4542b of the statutes.

2. That said Isaac Stephenson did, prior to said primary, pay to said Edmunds the above mentioned sum of money with the design that said Edmunds should pay to other electors of this state out of said sums above mentioned and other sums of money received by said Edmunds from said Isaac Stephenson, prior to said primary, sums ranging from $5 a day to $1,000 in bulk, in consideration for some act to be done in relation to said primary by said electors for said Isaac Stephenson as such candidate in violation of said section.

3. That with full knowledge and with instructions from said Isaac Stephenson, as to how and for what purposes said sums were to be expended, said sums were so paid as above stated to said Edmunds by said Isaac Stephenson and that said sums were paid up above stated for the purpose of bribing and corrupting a sufficient number of the electors of the state of Wisconsin to encompass the nomination of said Isaac Stephenson at said primary for the office of United States senator.

4. That in pursuance of the purposes and design above stated, said Isaac Stephenson did, by and through his agents, prior to said primary, pay to one U. C. Koller of Sauk county, then an elector of this state, the sum of $300 as a consideration for some act to be done by said Koller for said Stephenson, preliminary to said primary, corruptly and unlawfully.

5. That in further pursuance of such purposes and design, said Isaac Stephenson, by and through his agents, prior to said primary, did pay to one Humbright of Racine, Wis., large sums of money as a consideration for some act to be done by said Humbright, being then an elector of this state, corruptly and unlawfully.

6. That in further pursuance of the purposes and design above stated, said Isaac Stephenson did, by and through his agents, prior to said primary, pay to one Roy Morse of Fond du Lac, Wis., then an elector of this state, the sum of $1,000 as a consideration for some act to be done by said Morse for said Isaac Stephenson preliminary to said primary, corruptly and unlawfully.

7. That in further pursuance of such purposes and design, said Isaac Stephenson, by and through his agents, prior to said primary, did pay to divers persons, then electors of the county of Grant, Wis., ranging from $5 a day and upward, as a consideration for some act to be done by said several electors for said Isaac Stephenson, preliminary to said primary, corruptly and unlawfully.

That in further pursuance of such purposes and design, said Isaac Stephenson, by and through his agents, prior to said primary, did pay to divers persons who were at such time electors in this state a consideration for some act to be done by said Isaac Stephenson by such electors preliminary to such primary, corruptly and unlawfully.

8. That in further pursuance of such purposes and design said Isaac Stephenson, by and through his agents, prior to said primary, did pay to electors of this state, who were of different political opinion and who held to other political principles than that of the republican party, more particularly democrats, sums of money as a consideration for some act to be done by such electors for said Isaac Stephenson preliminary to said primary, corruptly and unlawfully.

9. That in further pursuance of such purposes and design said Isaac Stephenson, by and through his agents, prior to said primary, did pay to Edward Pollock of Lancaster, Wis., certain sums of money as editor of the Teller, a newspaper published in said city of Lancaster, Wis., and to other editors of newspapers who were at such time electors of this state, for the purpose of purchasing the editorials of some of them to be done relating to such primary, corruptly and unlawfully.

10. That said Isaac Stephenson did, prior to said primary, by and through his agents, promise and agree to pay to one Lester Tilton, a then resident and elector of this state and residing at the city of Neillsville, Wis., a sum in excess of $500 to procure or aid in procuring the nomination of said Lester Tilton to the assembly of this state from Clark county, and did give to said Lester Tilton a sum in excess of $500 if said Lester Tilton would become a candidate for the nomination from said Clark county, and if said Lester Tilton would support said Isaac Stephenson for the office of United States senator, all of which is in violation of Sections 4542 and 4543b of the statutes.

11. That said Isaac Stephenson did, by and through his agents, give and promise and pay or agree to pay to other electors of this state sums of money to procure or aid in procuring the nomination of such electors to the senate and assembly of this state other than those electors residing in the district where said Isaac Stephenson resides.

12. That said Isaac Stephenson did, by and through his agents, give and promise and pay or agree to pay to other electors of this state sums of money to procure or aid in procuring the nomination of such electors to the senate and assembly of this state other than those electors residing in the district where said Isaac Stephenson resides.

13. That E. M. Hyser and Hon. Sello, prior to said primary, being at such time employees of the Chicago & North-Western Railway company, a corporation doing business in this state, did contribute and agree to contribute free services as such employees for the purpose to defeat the candidacy of former Assemblyman E. E. Nelson, from the district embracing Florence, Forest and Langlade counties, for the nomination for assembly from said district, all of which was done with the knowledge and consent and under the direction of said Isaac Stephenson, his agents and employees, contrary to Chapter 492, laws of 1905.

14. That in further pursuance of the purposes and design above set forth said Isaac Stephenson, by and through his agents, did, in addition to paying certain sums as above set forth, offer and agree to pay to electors of this state, prior to said primary, a sum or bonus to those in his employ who carried their respective precincts in such primary for said Isaac Stephenson as such candidate.

15. That said Isaac Stephenson, if claiming an election by virtue of receiving a plurality of votes at such primary, then said Isaac Stephenson has violated Chapter 502 of laws of 1905, by failing and neglecting to file his expense account as provided by said chapter.

16. Charging generally, the primary nomination and election of said Isaac Stephenson was obtained by the use of large sums of money corruptly and illegally, by the violation of Sections 4542 and 4543b and 4178 of the statutes relating to illegal voting, bribery and corruption and other laws above set forth relating to elections and primary elections.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN L. BLAINE,
State Senator Sixteenth District.
Dated January 26, 1909, A. D.

THREE MEN INDICTED FOR TOWN LOT FRAUDS

Federal Grand Jury at Muskogee, Okla., Finds the Conspiracy Was Unexpectedly Wide.

Muskogee, Okla., Jan. 27.—From ten to fifty separate indictments against each of three men already have been found by the federal grand jury that is investigating the town lot frauds, according to an unofficial but well authenticated report.

Government officials, while declining to vouchsafe any information in advance of the report of the jury, do not deny that indictments have been found. To Danville, Va., goes the distinction of furnishing the first witnesses to cause true bills to be found. In the case of these witnesses the testimony is said to be unanimous that at least thirty-eight deeds were forged by the person indicted.

The sentiment here is that the growth of the city has been retarded by the clouds cast upon titles of realty and that the clearing away of the cloud will result in great benefit to the city, though unquestionably working hardships in many cases.

While every possible precaution is being made by the government to prevent the secrets of the grand jury room from leaking out, apparently well founded reports are in circulation to the effect that the investigation shows a much wider conspiracy than was suspected when the jury was called to weigh the testimony against less than a dozen men. It is said many others are involved.

To O. E. Pagan, assistant attorney general, has been assigned the duty of drawing up the indictment. Pagan was formerly assistant United States district attorney at Chicago, where he gained the reputation of preparing indictments which never failed to hold. As a recognition of his ability he was promoted to his present position.

CRANBERRY GROWERS HAVE INCORPORATED

New Association Has Been Formed in Grand Rapids—Has 100 Acres of Rich Marsh Land.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Grand Rapids, Wis., Jan. 25.—A new cranberry growers' association has been incorporated, under the laws of the state of Wisconsin, under the name of the "Walter Case Cranberry Company."

The property of the company consists of one hundred and fifty acres of rich marsh land not far from Spooner, a town of about two thousand population in the northern part of Wisconsin. The main reservoir, Bass lake, covering an area of one hundred and fifty-five acres, is about four feet above and a few rods from the first marsh. The outlet water flows over the upper marsh to a similar lake, which forms a reservoir for the lower marsh.

The marsh is covered with native cranberry vines and has borne a large variety of cranberries for many years, which shows that the soil is well adapted to the culture of the luscious fruit.

A. G. Bennett, the promoter of the company, is the oldest active cranberry grower in Wisconsin. He was instrumental in developing the cranberry industry of this portion of the state, and has held various offices in the national association. He is also the proprietor of the Bennett Junior cranberry, one of the finest varieties ever grown, raising one hundred barrels of fruit on less than one acre of vines, three and one-half years after the vines were planted.

The cranberry crop of the past season was only about one-half of last season's output in this state, and good berries are now selling for from four to seven dollars a barrel, and for thirty-five years have averaged six dollars a barrel.

He is one of a staff which is known to comprise the ablest ad-writers which the field has developed.

He is one of the many men who, working together, have made Lord & Thomas the greatest advertising agency in existence.

Let him tell you, from the copy side, what this agency means to you.

The Absolute Need For Co-Operation

No advertising campaign can be wisely entrusted to any one man, no matter what his ability.

We employ the best men that we know. We attract them from everywhere by salaries such as no one else pays. Yet we do not trust even the smallest campaign to any one man alone.

Advertising has many pitfalls, and no man can know them all.

Advertising deals with human nature, with all its likes and dislikes, vagaries and prejudices. Rarely can one man measure correctly the world to which we appeal.

One man has limited knowledge, limited powers and ideas. We must multiply men to get from advertising the utmost of its possibilities.

Where so much is at stake, it would be rash to leave the result to a one-man power.

These men in conference work out the campaigns that come up to us.

They decide on mediums, selling plans and copy. They devise new ways to awake human interest. From all the facts before them, they select the few to discuss.

They consider trade conditions and competition. They work out all selling problems. Each, from his wealth of experience, contributes ideas. And one may be sure that there is no possibility which a Board of such men overlook.

It costs us about $1 a minute to keep one of these Boards in session. And the only way in which the money comes back is through the multiplied power of the advertising.

To these Boards are due the scores of successes which give us our splendid prestige.

Small accounts grow to large ones; fortunes are wrought from failures; brilliant successes come from semi-successes, because of what these men do.

Let us give you facts and figures,
